I became a fan of the work of Tim Neumark back in 2014 when he sent me the album Storm, that said it all about my life at that moment in time, and his beautifully heartfelt performances have stuck with me ever since.

Tim's latest single is a cover of Tim Minchin's Beauty and what a stunningly moving performance it is indeed, this is one of those singles that whilst you play the music, a tear will form in your eye and every hair upon your arms will stand to attention.

A full flowing emotive performance by Neumark can be found here, one that will no doubt get plenty of attention in the charts and from his fans, of which I count myself as one, this is Tim Neumark once more at his very best yet again.
