It is always a pleasant thing to listen to a new piece of music by Andy Rogers, there are few who can take me back to the golden years of the new age music genre, but he is certainly one them.

I first fell in love with his work after hearing the legendary single Ocean Dreaming and now here on Sea of Memories we have something of equal passion.

Rogers is a wonderful mix of David Sun meets Stephen Rhodes, but perhaps warmer in his final product. Sea of Memories has natural sounds of the ocean underneath the track, and is as emotive as Mike Rowland use to be in the 90's, if not more so.

Sea of Memories is Andy Rogers latest single and the master of mellow in my view has done it again, a composition that is gentle and calming, with a beautiful flowing melody and a soothing narrative; this has to be a huge hit in the making.
